

I strongly believe that it is our right as private citizens not to be bombarded with telephone solicitations in our home over our telephones or computers. This in no way interferes with the solicitors right to free speech, but having a strong do not call law enforces the right to privacy to the individual.